Most believe that the movie has its own language and die-hard fans will surely agree. However, there are a large number of growing global audiences who do not want to miss even the word of the dialogues. If you're watching a movie in a language you only partially understand, or if it's completely foreign, subtitles are a boon. They play an important role in making content global, rather than focusing on a specific local and narrow audience. Here we have a list of good sources where you can get subtitles of millions of movies and TV shows at the touch of a button. Most of them are in SRT format and packed into email files that you will have to extract and sync them with the movie or TV show you will be watching.
